The Oregon merchants, we notice, are beginning to advocate direct exportation of their produce, and thus saving the freights via San Francisco. On their wheat they say it will save 50 cents per bushel, an Oversusies, speaking of the trade with these Islands, ing of establishing a direct line of ships between that port and the Sambwich Lehrale. With great propri-sty they say that the State of Gregor, whose popula-tion are new large consumers of the produce of these Islands, would derive advantage by direct trade with the Islands, rather than through San trade with the Islands, rather than through San Prancisco biness. Our own ascelants now supply, through the Sunral and also by vary of Columbia River, a portion of the consumption of Oregon, and it seems a pity that the growing trade with the Sand-wich Islands should be allowed to slip through our furgers, more especially as, on account of the superi-urity of the marking facilities of Victoria, a slip cu-gaged in the Homolain trade would be able to make at least one additional trip per annum by running to Victoria instead of to Portland."

> VOLCANIC ACTION .- We shall not be surprised if the next news from Hawaii is that a new eruption has occurred on the Island. There is a renewal of volcanic force in the unusual activity displayed in the crater of Kllauca; in the dally earthquakes, and in the smoke, which, by some, is pronounced as dense as that which covered the Island in April last. In Kona and Kan, the vibrations of the earth are light, but yet noticeable, and four or five shocks are felt every day. Visitors to Kilauca describe the South Lake as rapidly filling with liquid lava, and the activity as being very great. A slight shock of carthquake was felt on this Island on Friday evening last, at fifteen minutes to 10. , It was observed here in Honolulu, and on the other side of the Island. These shocks, at such a distance from the volcano, indicate great forces at work there. The great distance which earthquake waves extend from the centre of movement, has been verified in the past. During the years 1811 and 1812, a series of carthquakes were felt in the United States-quite severely in the North-western States. They were also felt in Central America, and the Islands of the Carribean Sea. The city of Carriers was destroyed in 1812, and the West India Islands were repeatedly shaken.

These series of earthquakes, embracing such a large sweep of the earth's surface, ceased cutirely after the eruption on the will address a line to the undersigned, stating what kind of men, and how many they will be likely to want, he will endeavor to have their requirements met, as far as practicable.

In the rush of greater events the subject has been forgotten here. We advocate the Hawaiian treaty, and believe this country would benefit as much believe this country would benefit as much as the party of the other part."

The following notice alludes to the visit of His Majesty to Kau: "Our Hawaiian files contain accounts of a charitable visit made by King Kamehameha through the districts recently ravaged by the great volcanic cruption. Eight hundred persons, some of whom had lost everything they possessed by the tidal wave, and others by the mud cruption, were relieved from the Government stores; and His Majesty displayed the greatest kindness on all hands—the people gathering around him to relate their experiences to their Sovereign, and receive sympathy and advice from him personally. The Dowager Queen Emma, also, has been very active in collecting funds, and laboring in every way to relieve the wide-spread distress. We can not praise too warmiy the conduct of the Royal family."

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The Senate has ad-Washington, July 24.—The Senate has adjourned from executive session. The treaty with China, was considered for nine hours, and finally ratified, with amendments. The sandwich Islands treaty was first considered, but was laid aside to take up the China treaty. The Custom House officials of the city have endeavored to create a quarrel with H. B. M. ship Chenticizer, the particulars of which are pretty much as follows: The paymaster of the Chasticizer, Mr. Wallace, obtained from one of the merchants $633 to make purchases for the ship, and also obtained a Custom House permit to carry said amount on board. There remained after the purchases $378, with which sum Mr. Wallace purchases $378, with which sum Mr. Wallace purchases 8368, with which sum Mr. Wallace was proceeding aboard. In passing the Cus-tom House he was seized, searched and the amount confiscated as contraband. Mr. Wallace reported proceedings to his Captain; who came ashore in his official capacity and sought advice from some friends. On the return of this officer to his ship, in passing return of this officer to his ship, in passing the Custom House, he was unceremoniously and grossly seized and searched and insulted. In reply to the captain's statement that he was commander of H. B. M. steamer, a group of officials laughed and derided him. On the 22d, at noon, if Capt. Bridges has not received satisfaction, he purposes firing a blank signal, and at 2 P. M., haul into three fathom water, in range of the Custom House, and destroy it. Several families left, and others are leaving town. The merchants have moved their goods from the Custom House, and placed their cash in security. General moved their goods from the Custom House, and placed their cash in security. General Corona is to withdraw his troops if hostilities begin, although the artillery have taken position to return fire. Corona exonerates himself from all responsibility in the affair. The foreign population universally uphold Capt. Bridges, but deplore the result should he hold out in his threats in view of the demands not being acceded to; especially if Corona withdraws his troops.

The work on the Pacific Railroad is attracting great attention.

The Railroad race for Salt Lake is becoming exciting. The Union Pacific has reached a point 700 miles west of Omaha, and 20,000 men at work on the line to Salt Lake. The Central Pacific is completed over 200 east of Sacramento, and lms 9,000 men at work, with the advantage of a more level country. The spectacle of nearly 30,000 men at work on one line of railroad across the middle of the Continent is rather grand.

THE SIST AT KOHALA-Friday, being a wet day, Saturday was kept as a general gala-day at Kohala, that (so-called,) little, out-of-the-way place on the coast of Hawaii. Shortly after noon, the newly organized, native Volunteer Corps assembled at the house of the wellknown, and highly esteemed Manager of the Kohala Piantation, and serenaded a large party of friends and neighbors assembled at dinner, under an avenue of the beautiful "Pride of India." Such flowers graced the Salmon, in Barrels and Halftable as only Kohala can produce! The repast ended, the various Companies marched around in procession with their flags, the bright colored dresses of each Company having a pretty effect. The uniform of the Corps was handsome, and many of the men had a thorough soldierly bearing, notwithstanding the short drill. In the afternoon, there were "races,"-foot, donkey, wheelbarrow, and (best fun of all,) sack races. Then a greasy pole was climbed, with good-natured and untiring perseverance, and the prize won at last. At duck, after the chiming of a peal of English hand-bells, there was a good display of fire-works, which caused considers. ble amusement, as the serpents seemed determined to scatter the crowd. Good order prevailed throughout the day, although not less than 500 people were congregated. A right morry holiday it was for every one, and those who joined in its festivities, and echoed the cordial cheers of the Volunteers, could not fall to wish all prosperity to the liberal host and hostess, and many happy returns of the Hawaiian Fing-day.

When the train from Oakland arrived at the which arrived on Friday last, Eastern telegrams to the 13th were received. The Comet was to leave on the 1st inst, and the steamer on the 10th. The Murray had not arrived over, seventeen days out.

When the train from Casalas arrived sed of the pier, the passengers from this city by El Capitan had been sufely landed and were in waiting. The train was heavily loaded, and the passengers got off to go on board the steamer. In order to understand how this over, seventeen days out.

Congress adjourned on the 27th ult. to meet again in September. The Senate was crowded with executive business during the few last days. By the two following telegrams it will be seen that the Reciprocity Treaty was up and received a short-consideration, but did not reach a vote.

Curcago, July 21.—A Times special says the Senate in executive seesion yesterday, considered the Sandwich Islands Treaty, but did not reach a vote. Summer made a powerful speech in support of the treaty, arguing the benefit the Pacific States would derive from it. Mr. Fessenden opposed its ratification on the ground that sugar, rice, etc. which hang down through the wharf, heavy weights are attached. These serve in part to balance the gangway. The wheels ever which the chains pass are cogged to fit the links of the chains, and also a ratchet-wheel still further prevents the motion when desired. From the boat to the stage an ordinary plank, with railings at the side, is placed for the passage of people to and from the boat. When the boat arrived, at the time of the

When the beat arrived, at the time of the accident, and had discharged her freight and passengers, the people from Oakland, including the tharibaldians who had participated in the celebration, then commenced going on board across the staging at the side. Some had passed on when a large fishing boat, which the Italians had mounted on wheels, in the procession, was hauled on board, and stopped in mediately in front of the side landing, comhand by the mails, and further knowledge of the temper of the Senate on the question. It lays over with the unfinished business to another session. The Treaty has strong supporters in the Senate, and will not, we think, be allowed to remain without definite action in the future.
